

HEALTH OFFICERS TO HOLD SESSION

European War Will Force This Country to Be More Vigilant.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 6.—The meeting of the American Public Health association is scheduled for this city for the week of Sept. 6. It is not only the forty-third annual convention of the Public Health association, but it is also the fifteenth annual conference of the sanitary officers of New York state, and a meeting of the State Sanitary Officers' association.

"It is certain that this will be the greatest public health gathering ever held within the state of New York," says Dr. Bliss. "The opportunity offered to health workers throughout the country is unique. The recent strides of health work throughout America and the pressing necessity for increased vigilance against epidemic diseases owing to the war in Europe, makes this conference of peculiar significance."

The preliminary announcement of the health association also calls attention to the serious responsibilities placed on health workers by the European war.

"Hitherto our call has been simply a stirring metaphor appealing for renewed activity and aggressiveness in the never-ending warfare against disease," says Prof. William T. Sedgwick of Boston, president of the American Public Health association. "This year—likely to be forever memorable with shame and horror—it becomes a warning for preparation and defense, as well as for renewed activity looking toward ultimate prevention."

"This year we must beseech all the Americans to prepare to deal with the unusual invasions of minute, mostly invisible, but often multitudinous and powerful enemies. We must defend against typhus as well as typhoid, against Asiatic cholera as well as smallpox and against bubonic plague as well as Asiatic dysentery. Meanwhile, cancer and inanition, poverty and unemployment, gluttony and intemperance, uncleanness, bad air and perverted appetites will not abate, but rather exacerbate their activities because of war and its evil influence upon public health."

"While, therefore, we hope to remain neutral witnesses of those titanic convulsions of human nature now devastating Europe, we must be more than ever ready to bear arms and go to war—but, happily, in a campaign not detested but universally applauded."

"Let us then foregather and concentrate our forces at Rochester early in September, for reinforcement with an honorable company of the rapidly growing public health army of today, and for one of the noblest causes—conservation and promotion of the public health."

BILBO IS NOMINATED

Lieut. Gov. of Mississippi to Run for Governor.

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 6.—Theodore G. Bilbo, present lieutenant governor, a Vardaman protégé, won the nomination for governor over five opponents by about 5,000 votes in the democratic primary. Early returns favored the election of Marion W. Kelly, or at least a second primary between him and Bilbo, but the country vote has put Bilbo over. The nomination is equivalent to election.

With Bilbo, who succeeds Earl Brewer, goes in his entire ticket, as follows: Lieut. Gov. Leo M. Russell, State Auditor R. E. Wilson, State Treasurer Dr. J. P. Taylor, Insurance Commissioner T. M. Henry and Clerk Supreme Court George C. Meyers.

DROWNS HER CHILDREN.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 6.—After putting her four small children into a well and drowns them Mrs. Lee Tatum of Dealville, near here, committed suicide in the same manner. The bodies of the five were taken from the well Thursday.

WOMAN IN BAD CONDITION

Restored To Health by Lydia
E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Montpelier, Vt. — "We have great faith in your remedies. I was very irregular and was tired and sleepy all the time, would have cold chills, and my hands and feet would be cold. My stomach bothered me, I had pain in my side and a bad headache most of the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me lots of good and I now feel fine. I am regular, my stomach is better and my pains have all left me. You can use my name if you like. I am proud of what your remedies have done for me." — Mrs. MARY GAUTHIER, 21 Ridge St., Montpelier, Vt.

An Honest Dependable Medicine

It must be admitted by every fair-minded, intelligent person, that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for nearly forty years, and to-day hold a record for thousands upon thousands of actual cures, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, without possessing great virtue and actual worth. Such medicines must be looked upon and termed both standard and dependable by every thinking person.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

THE AUDITORIUM.

Viola Allen, who is well known in South Bend, having appeared here many times, is being presented at the Auditorium today in a six reel picture of her greatest success, "The White Sister." The play was a dramatization of the novel by F. Marion Crawford and created quite a sensation. Filmed for the screen by Essanay, with Miss Allen in the title role and Richard Travers as leading man, it should prove a sensation in the moving picture world. Six reels that are crowded every moment with the hurrying events of a great life drama, are required to tell the story. The pictures are said to be superb; the costumes correct in every detail and the scenes laid correctly as to atmosphere. It tells the story of a young lady who thinks her lover has died in battle and she becomes "The White Sister." In after years the lover returns and claims her for his wife, but she refuses to wed on account of her religious vows. She is granted a special dispensation by the pope, however, and everything ends happily. On tomorrow's bill are "Cartoons in a Laundry," one of those funny Edison pictures, "A House of Cards," a two reel Lubin drama; "The Little Runaways," a Biograph drama; the Selig weekly of current events, and "For Her Brother's Sake," a story of the California mines, featuring Alice Joyce and Carlyle Blackwell. According to the story, Bob Graham is led to suspect his wife, Mary, of being in love with another man. Trailing the two to the mine which he owns, he sees them both enter. Just an hour previous Mary and the stranger venture in, and his men had been warned out of the mine because a cave-in was feared. The accident occurs a minute after. Deeming it a judgment of heaven on the pair, the husband leaves them to their fate and returns to his cabin. There he finds evidence which shows the stranger to be none other than his wife's brother. His frantic efforts to rescue the two are shown in the exciting climax.

AT THE LASALLE.

The LaSalle presents Paramount feature picture today and Saturday entitled "The Rug Maker's Daughter," in which Maude Allan, the classic actress and dancer, is featured. Maude Allan, formerly a London dancer, is a favorite in London, both because of her natural genius and also because of her popularity with the late king and the present queen mother. Her hold upon the royal favor largely came about through a little act of graciousness of her own. During Maude Allan's first appearance in Paris, where her dances received an historic ovation, she was asked by Mme. Yvette Guilbert to dance at a charity matinee which the latter was organizing at the Theatre Sarah Bernhardt. Compulsively glad with little thought of the good fortune in store, Maude Allan in due time received an introduction to the Princess Murat and Mrs. Hall-Walker, both noted favorites in English court circles, who took a strong liking to the young American girl and who at once made themselves instrumental in securing her the honor of a "command" to dance before the late King Edward VII., who was taking the waters at Marienbad. Maude Allan's dancing so captivated the English monarch that he took a personal interest in her forthcoming London debut, and when through his influence dance before the late King and Queen Alexandra after a dinner in their honor by the Earl and Countess of Dudley, the fortune of Maude Allan was made in the British dominions. The oriental dance Maude Allan presents in "The Rug Maker's Daughter" was one of the dances of which her royal sponsor was especially fond.

On the same program will be seen a comedy, "When Father Had the Gout."

AT THE INDIANA.

The opening of the Indiana theater occurred Thursday without any particular blare of trumpets or elaborate dedication ceremonies. The doors were opened at 2 o'clock and when a good crowd had gathered the program of thoroughly high class pictures was presented. The Klaw and Erlanger picture of "Woman Against Woman" was particularly enjoyable, and the lively two reel comedy, "The Silent W," with Lillian Walker, pleased immensely.

Today's program includes a three-part Essanay drama, "The Greater Courage," with Bryant Washburn and Edna Mayo in the principal roles. These two players have recently received many favorable notices in the big English drama, "The Blindness of Virtue." "It May Be You," an Edison comedy, and "Education," a college play of the lighter sort from the Essanay studio, will also be seen.

Saturday's bill features "The Seventh Commandment," a wonderful Kalem production in three parts.

Mgr. Robert Codd was in evidence at the opening shows and was pleased by the many favorable comments heard on the comfort and convenience of the renovated house as well as the general excellence of the opening program.

"HYPOCRITES" COMING.

Probably no picture of recent production has excited the comment, favorable and otherwise as the "Hypocrites," which will be seen at the LaSalle theater for three days beginning next Monday. It was shown in Kalamazoo recently and the comments below are taken from the press reports published in that city.

"Those who failed to see 'Hypocrites' missed the most remarkable photoplay of the season. The impressive scenes, the spiritual suggestions and the powerful lessons portrayed have never been equalled here in a theater or on a screen. Only those too dense to see the beautiful or too hypocritical to stand the mirror of truth, could possibly maintain that the pictures are immoral or impure. 'Hypocrites' ought to make every community that sees it better in heart and spirit, more kind to each other and more genuine."

AT SPRINGBROOK.

The continual rains of the past few days have completely killed all outdoor entertainments and Venetian games at Springbrook has been called off. The Royal Italian band will be retained and will accompany the Press club at its Saturday outing. They will play on the special car that takes the newspaper organization to the park during the comedy performances that will be given in the casino regardless of the weather. The band is arranging to give two special concerts at the park next Sunday, afternoon and evening. The hunt for the hidden disks has also been called off by the park management, owing to bad weather. Further announcements will be made in reference to this contest.

PARTY LEADERS TO GET IN ON DEFENSE PROGRAM

President Wilson Will Confer With Democrats Before Formulating Comprehensive Plans.

WINDSOR, Vt., Aug. 6.—That Pres't Wilson will confer with various leaders of the democratic party before formulating a comprehensive program of national defense, to be presented to congress next December, became known Thursday night. Among those to be consulted will be the chairman of the house and senate committees on military and naval affairs, and it is the president's hope that the views of all will be crystallized in the program which he has in mind. It is the president's desire that there may be no party strife over his policy, which it is now well known, will be the leading feature of his coming message to congress.

The president has already written to Chairman Baggett of the house committee on naval affairs, arranging a conference upon his return to Washington. This will be the opening wedge in framing a concerted program of action between the president and congressional leaders.

While the president will lend every effort toward gaining the united support of his party, there is little doubt he will meet with strong and determined opposition from some of the men with whom he will consult.

The series of conferences with congressional leaders will not be held until Sec'y of War Garrison and Sec'y of the Navy Daniels have completed their reports, and it is probable that both of the cabinet officers will participate in the meetings. Sec'y Garrison's report is expected to be before the president next week.

Pres't Wilson's move was uneventful, but he gave the town of Windsor a sensation by visiting the postoffice and making a detailed inquiry about the time of sending and receiving mails. The object of his personal investigation has not yet been revealed. The president will spend Friday in the seclusion of his study, it being just one year ago since Mrs. Wilson died. It is expected that the day will mark the official end of the mourning which has prevailed at the white house for 12 months.

FARMERS SEEKING WIVES

Chance for the Young Ladies in Clark County, Kansas.

TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 6.—Prosperous young bachelor farmers of Sitka, Clark county, have appealed to Governor Capper to direct young women—the kind who will make good wives for farmers—there.

The correspondent signed himself "A Sitka Bachelor." He said there was a scarcity of women in that section and that many prosperous young farmers want wives.
